Degree overview

If you didn't go to the registration sessions earlier in Huxley:
please go to Room 370, to let us know you're here.

MSc degree programme goes from October 2024 – September 2025.

- Taught modules during the first two terms.
- Summer (from May to mid-September) is when you work on your Individual Project.
- The degree is for 12 months and you should be available until September 26th, 2025.

Detailed structure

Detailed information about degree structure, choosing modules, etc., at the following sessions:

- MSc AI—Room 341 at 14:00
- MSc Computing—Room 145 at 14:00

Later in the day, for all of you:

- Intro to DoC systems—Lab 219 at 16:00

Do attend your MSc social events later in the day:

- MSc AI—Room 341 at 17:00
- MSc Computing—Room 342 at 17:00

Teaching Systems

Scientia (<https://scientia.doc.ic.ac.uk/>)—for module materials, coursework submission and feedback

- Developed in-house by our EdTech team
- Internally open-source and welcomes student contributions (<https://gitlab.doc.ic.ac.uk/edtech/>)

Panopto (<https://imperial.cloud.panopto.eu/>)—for lecture recordings

EdStem Discussion board (<https://edstem.org/>)—for Q&A.

- You are automatically registered onto your degree board.
- You're added to module boards a few hours after you register for the module.

Timetables—information available in your welcome email.

Good Practices

Check the guidance on using Generative

AI—<https://www.imperial.ac.uk/admin-services/library/learning-support/generative-ai-guidance/>

Have a good balance between Autumn and Spring term modules

Make sure you pay close attention to any module prerequisites

Attend lectures, tutorials, and labs

You cannot do a part-time job and do well on your MSc—we cannot endorse internships (unless on MSc AI) and are required to monitor student attendance

Ask questions on EdStem and take advantage of peer learning

Before finalising your modules, attend as many modules as possible to get a feel—no quotas in modules

Have a good work-life balance—London is an amazing city with lots to do

Events, socials, seminars,...

Application of Computing in Industry series

(<https://www.imperial.ac.uk/computing/industry/aci/>)—first one on Wednesday October 2nd in Room 308 at 13:00

DoCSoc (<https://docsoc.co.uk>) events

Lunchtime career services events

Lots of research talks, seminar series—look out for emails

Hackathons (<https://ichack.org/>, biggest student-run in Europe), entrepreneurship events—more emails!

'Meet your alumni' events (two later this term)

MSc social events

Your voice

We care about what you think and welcome ideas, comments, suggestions.

- Provide feedback when requested
- Give feedback to your module lecturers and GTAs
- Talk to your reps—two staff-student meetings per term in Autumn and Spring
- Talk to your personal tutor
- Talk to your degree and lab coordinators
- Talk to me 😊

All the best for a successful, educative, and enjoyable MSc

Have a great year ahead! 😊
