

Nominations are invited to the 2018 Sir Richard Brook Prize to the best ceramics science or engineering PhD thesis in the UK.

The recipient of the prize will be decided by the CASC's industrial consortium.

Former winners include students from Brunel University, Imperial College, Leeds University and University of Manchester.

Richard Brook is one of the UK's leading ceramic scientists. He has headed research groups at Leeds and Oxford Universities and has been editor of the Journal of the European Ceramic Society, EPSRC CEO and Director of the Leverhulme Trust.

CASC is grateful to Morgan Advanced Materials for their sponsorship of this prize.

Award

The award consists of a certificate, plaque and a £1000 check.

Nominations

PhD supervisors can nominate students that obtained their degree in 2018. They should provide the following information:

- Copy of the award certificate.
- Copy of any resulting publication or presentation.
- Abstract of the nominees thesis.
- Short supporting statement.

Nominations should be received by the CASC director, Professor Eduardo Saiz (e.saiz@imperial.ac.uk), by the 14th of January 2019.