

CALL FOR POSTERS & BROCHURE

PHARMACEUTICAL MANUFACTURING FORUM

Wednesday 4th October 2023, 9am - 6pm

Holiday Inn Hotel, Kensington, London

You are invited to join our one day Pharmaceutical Manufacturing Forum which will address emerging opportunities and challenges in pharmaceutical manufacturing and discuss ongoing research efforts to address these challenges. Invited industry, government and academic experts will discuss different perspectives on the future of pharmaceutical manufacturing. Topics include new process technologies, experimental protocols, computational models and decision-support tools, e.g., to support Quality-by-Design.

An interactive poster session will allow participants to learn about emerging advances and will showcase the breadth of pharmaceutical research being undertaken across Imperial College London, University College London and Queen Mary University London.

We hope that you can join us to share ideas and collaborate on this exciting topic.

The Pharmaceutical Manufacturing Forum is hosted by the PharmaSEL UKRI Prosperity Partnership, a research collaboration established in 2020 that brings together Imperial College London, University College London, Queen Mary University London and Eli Lilly and Company.

ABOUT THE FORUM

Pharmaceutical manufacturing faces evolving challenges, including the growth of new modalities such as peptides and oligonucleotides, the advent of platform technologies, unprecedented time and cost pressures, and increasingly demanding environmental targets. The successful identification, development and implementation of scientific advances to address these challenges requires the collaboration of participants across the pharmaceutical manufacturing ecosystem.

This forum will include invited presentations, a panel discussion and a poster session.
